

Benefits to hiring Patnode Electric for your generator:

Patnode Electric is your authorized Generac generator installer in the Willington, CT area. Generac recommends that their automatic standby power systems be installed by an authorized Generac dealer. When you work with Patnode Electric, you can rest assured that all local, state, and national electrical codes will be followed, as will national plumbing codes in making all fuel connections. The result will be a safe, reliable installation you can count on when the power goes out.

Patnode Electric can have most Generac automatic standby generator models installed in just eight hours. In typical applications, many can be installed in as little as six hours. All of our technicians are factory trained and certified and we stock Generac parts and maintenance kits, ensuring that your installation goes as quickly and smoothly as possible. You really won't believe how easy it is! Call us today for your Generac generator installation estimate.